NEWS SUMMARY.

There is a Japanese embassy in Paris on its way to the United States.

The Onondaga (N. Y.) salt springs produced last year 7,092,240 bushels. General Fullerron has resigned from the army and returned to the practice of the law at St.

The Papal authorities have interdicted the services in the Scotch Protestant Church in Rome. and it is said they intend to stop the services in the American chapel.

Nearly all the presses of the Paris Mint are employed in coining small money for the wants of trade, the pieces being 2f., 1f., 50c., and 25c. Several millions are struck off every day. CHARLES DICKENS has begun public readings of "Barbox Brothers" and the "Boy of Mugby" in the city of Leeds. The London journals report that "Mugby Junction" has had a sale of two hundred and fifty thousand copies. M. RENAN has in the press a new edition of the "Life of JESUS," in which he replies to M. VEUIL-

Lor's attack upon him, and develops his own theories, it is said, with much less circumlocution than heretofore. Dr. FRANCIS LIEBER and JOHN BRIGHT Were recently elected honorary members of the New England Society in New York. This is the first time this honor has been conferred upon a for-Since the process of photographing upon silk and linen has been perfected in France, many persons have their portraits upon their linen instead of their names or initials. Washing, it is said, does not injure the portraits. A Japanese juggling troupe, on their way to Paris, has reached San Francisco, where some of their strange feats have been witnessed. There are in all about a dozen performers, and they will probably visit the principal cities of this country and Europe. Another diamond has been found in Australia, in the district of Beechworth. It was discovered in Sebastopol Creek, at a depth of two hundred and fifty feet, amid small blue and white topazes, hyacinths, zircons, tournaline, and tin sand. Its weight exceeded a carat and one-eighth. General PHIL. SHERIDAN emphatically denies that he is a candidate for the Presidency. He also says that the report that he is about to be married is equally without foundation. He wants neither the Presidency nor a wife. He has no aspirations beyond his present happy situation and condition. It is reported from Toulon that a powerful French iron-clad squadron will follow in the wake of the army transport fleet to the Gulf of Mexico, and that the Imperial Admiral has been ordered to look after "privateers" and "fillibusters" on the Mexican coast, in the Bahamas channel and "ports of the United States." Time between Omaha and Salt Lake City now is only eight days. Three of them are occupied in the trip from Omaha to Denver, and the remaining five from Denver to Salt Lake City. In this eightdays' travel there are three hundred miles of railroading and nine hundred of staging-total, one thousand two hundred miles. The question of adopting the Constitutional Amendment is to be reconsidered in the Virginia

Legislature, which rejected it recently. This movement is brought about by letters to the members from their constituents, received since its rejection urging them to vote for its adoption. In a reconsideration it will be urged to submit the question of ratification to the people. The hotel and buildings at Point Lookout, with two tracts adjoining containing 270 acres, were sold by Messrs. FORD & COMBS, at trustee's sale, on Friday, the 28th of December last, for $8530. This sale was made, we learn, under mortgage liens, of the amount paid for the property, the purchaser having previously purchased it from E. G. W. HALL for $67,000. Purchaser, Judge BIRDSEYE, of New York City.

A curious case has come before the tribunal of a town in Bavaria. Two citizens of Bourberg having quarrelled, one of them, at a loss, no doubt for reasons, and wishing to mortify his adversary, called him "Bismarck." His adversary brought a complaint before the court for an outrage on his honor. The judges were much embarrassed, but in the end they rejected the plaintiff's demand and discharged the defendant, because it was impossible, they said, to decide whether the appellation "Bismarck" did or did not involve an insult falling under the notice of the law.

The New York Herala says: "Our special telegrams from Matamoras are dated January 7. Con-TIMAS was again in front of that place, and it was expected that he would attack. The reported occupations of San Luis Potosi, Gaudalajara and Aquas Caliente were confirmed. The San Luis garrison retreated towards Mexico City, and the Liberals entered the town on Christmas day. MEJIA's army was completely demoralized, and he himself was sick and disheartened. President JUAREZ arrived at Durango on the 13th of December. General Sepowick was still at Brownsville.

The New York Evening Post says an article on "Captain John Smith," in the new number of the North American Review, is the first popular presentation of a theory which has been held for a Yew Years past by a class of our historical students. It not only impeaches the veracity of the founder of Virginia, but it almost demonstrates that the celebrated story which tells how heroic Pocahonwas saved his life, is but a pleasant fiction at the best. The reviewer merely repeats the theory of Mr. CHARLES DEANE, which, during the war, has been hidden away in his reprints of "WINGFIELD'S Discourse of Virginia" and of SMITH'S "True Re-

The Norfolk Journal of the 11th instant says "The steamer Peruvian, expected here towards the end of the month, will take from this port some 2000 bales of cotton, much of which has already arrived, more is on the way, and no delay of the ship is anticipated. Messrs. W. D. RETNOLDS & Bro., the agents in Norfolk, have been informed that the steamer Propontis may be expected here Each of these vesseis has a tonnage of 2000 gross. and a length over all of 85% feet. The Peruvia: will arrive here with a part of her cargo on board, from Philadelphia, but the Propontis will probably come in ballast."

A dispatch dated Boston, January 11, says Governor Bullockasent to the Legislature to-May a letter received by him from Governor ORR. of South Carolina, which contained the following bassage: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your communication, enclosing a copy of the resolutions of the State of Massachusetts. directing certain books to be provided and sent to this State, in response to my application to you. This action of the Legislature of your State is aratefully appreciated by South Carolina, and is an augury that the ancient fraternal relations between these two original States of the Union are being restored. Widely as we have differed in the principles of the Government in the past, let the ascerbities of these differences be buried, and the future only unfold a generous rivalry in advancing the interests and promoting the glory of a com-

Mr. WILLIAM LLOYD GARRISON has addressed letter to the New York Independent on the subject of impeaching the President, in which he emulates the recent production of WENDELL PHILLIPS in the Anti-Slavery Standard. He closes his letter as follows: "Let this perjured and perfidious occupant of the Presidential chair be summarily removed and one chosen to fill it who will be true to his country, working harmoniously with Congress in its endeavors to give the same security to liberty and loyalty at the South as is enjoyed at the North, and the safety of the nation will be placed upon an indestructible foundation. Not to do this will be the sowing of dragon's teeth, ending in a harvest of blood. The right of impeachment is not only a Constitutional right, but the Constitution itself assumes that it may be an imperative duty. If AMDREW JOHNSON has not made himself liable to it, then the phrase 'high crimes and mis-diable to it, then the phrase 'high crimes and misdemeanors' becomes a mockery."

One of the prettiest of Christmas customs is the Norwegian practice of giving on Christmas day a dinner to the birds. On Christmas morning every gable, gateway and barn-door is decorated with a sheaf of corn, fixed on the top of a long pole, wherefrom it is intended that the birds shall make their Christmas dinner. Even the peasants will contrive to have a handful set by for this purpose; and what the birds do not eat on Christmas day remains for them to finish at their leisure furing the winter. during the winter.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JANUARY 16, 1867.

The "art preservative of all arts" unquestionably has had a larger agency in bringing about the sum total of modern civilization than all other influences combined. Science,

NEWSPAPERS AND ADVERTISING.

the fine and useful arts, philosophy, literature, politics, religion, all owe their giant strides to the quickening power of printer's ink. Too much caunot be said in credit of an institution that extends its useful, humanizing ramifications into every, even the humblest, sphere of life. That this blessing has sometimes been abused, argues nothing against it. Innocent corn, the very staff of life,-we all know, when brought under the U.S. Internal Revenue guager's rod (called Bourbon then),-is held responsible for the most heinous crimes on the pœnul catalogue. The same term in Greek is used to represent the healing medicine and the deadly poison, and in Hebrew the same word is translated both "to bless" and "to curse." It need surprise no one, therefore, that the Press, like speech and other good gifts of God, has often been, and still daily is, used for very wrong and unworthy purposes. A newspaper article does not afford scope to elaborate so vast a subject, and we can only touch on one or two offshoots from the great and mighty tree. The daily newspaper, to the wisest man even, affords the best school of human nature. The journal is a map of busy life,-all unconscious, though, even the editor himself may be of this department of his paper. from the very nature of the case, it must and will be a faithful reflex of the life of those whom it reckons among its readers and subsoribers. This is the case in the news columns. in the editorial, the literary or the miscellaneous department, but more emphatically so in respect to its advertisements. We often hear complaints in regard to the number of these and the great space they occupy in the paper. The dissatisfied should bear in mind that the advertisements are more read than any other part of the paper; such complaints, therefore, betoken an unbecoming selfishness. The newspaper, like most of the institutions of modern civilized society, in a cortain measure, is a joint stock enterprise, in which every member of the community is a shareholder to the extent of his subscription or advertising patronage. To this extent (the amount of his investment) he has a right to a voice in its management. But it is understood that, in all such undertakings, the stockholder is the "obliged party;" for by the arrangement he obtains advantages out of all proportion superior to the consideration he gives in return. It is, therefore, expected that he should surrender also a part of his rights, or at least of his prejudices. for the accomplishment of the greatest good to the greatest number. The old fable of Jupiter and the countryman, in regard to the weather, illustrates our point.

But to return. We remarked that the adverof cotemporary life. A single copy of the Pompeii Morning Herald, of the 24th of August, A. D. 79, published by Messrs. PLINY & Co. would be of more service to the modern archæologist to a proper understanding of the everyday life of the people of Southern Italy in the first century, than half the excavations and three-quarters of all the many huge and learned tomes that have been written in their

Yet the world was slow to appreciate the value of this universal "finisping school." Printing was invented in or about 1440, and the first newspaper in London was not established until 1622; and even then it took thirty years additional before even a dawn of the advertising idea broke upon the publisher's mind. In 1652, it is said, the announcement of a book was the first advertisement published in England. Once the ice broken, however, progress was rapid; and it would amuse our readers, were we to reproduce some of the advertisements of the last century, to see that there was nearly as much ingenuity displayed then as now in the effort of venders to bring their wares to the attention of purchasers. "Warren's Blacking" and the "Rejected Addresses" are among the best known of the polite advertizements of that period. "We keeps our own poet," was proudly said by the little shoe-black over a hundred years ago. Certainly as time rolls on, and an insatiate public still craves something new, advertisers find it more and more difficult to devise new "dodges." A literary man or "a poet" is now in the employ of every large advertising merchant. DRAKE, the Plantation Bitters man, it is said, enjoys the services of one of the first literary men of New York to write his advertisements, manufacture parodies, write pretty stories, etc., etc., all winding up with the inevitable S. T.-1860-X. That this advertising costs a great deal of money, all see and believe. But how it pays, by the 10th of February, to load for Liverpool. | that is the question, -one of the most curious problems certainly in "social science." We have seen advertisements, published in a large metropolitan daily, costing $1600 for a single insertion. Few investments require larger faith, yet few yield larger returns. We know of manufacturers and dealers in proprietary medicines in this country who spend over $300,000 per annum in advertising. As this style of business has now been conducted for a number of years, and usually, too, by very shrewd men, it is fair to infer that they must find advertising to their interest, and that they are satisfied they could not do the same amount of business without it. We know many of our readers will exclaim, "Who reads quack medicine advertisements?" The answer has already been given. Quite recently we heard of a little incident ad hoc. 1 is well known that almanacs have been circulated by the million for a number of years by all the great manufacturers of patent medicines. They send large supplies of these to every apothecary in the land. The latter usually send them out to their customers, or distribute them as they find opportunity. A lady came, not long since, to one of these establishments: "Have you Blank's Encephaloid Lozenges?" (or some equally potent specific) "I found them so highly recommended in the almanac you sent me, so I thought I would try them." We need not explain that the said almanac was sent out for this very purpose by If such, then, is the result with patent medicines, the advertisements of which are always read with more or less of incredulity by intelligent persons, how obvious the advantages of advertising for other branches of business!

There is no species of calling, no branch of industry, no trade, art, or pursuit in life, that will not find advertising profitable. We had intended to give some specimens also of the infinite variety of styles and humors displayed in the advertising columns of news-

these. A person who advertised for "competent persons to undertake the sale of a new medicine," adding that "it will be profitable to the undertaker," came very near the truth by accident. He must have been a Frenchman, and entrepreneur being a very respectable word, he newspaper having the largest circulation in had no suspicions of its grave English signification. The future, according to a recent dreamer, has rich developments in store for advertisers. According to him, the streets and promenades will be filled with young men who shall add to their salaries by wearing placards on their coats and hats. Even the ladies will wear silks stamped with spring openings and great bargains. The following, perhaps, may be considered the full embodiment of the said

WHICH is the most indulgent, to sentence negro to two years hard labor on a farm, for felony, or a white man to two years hard labor in a State prison? This is the difference between the treatment of black and white criminals in Maryland which the assumed friends of the negroes cry out against. It is the white nan who should complain.

It is remarkable, if what the Radicals say especting the enmity of the Southern people oward the negroes be true, that the celebraion of emancipation by the blacks in all the principal Southern cities, on the 1st instant, did not create the least disturbance. Their processions out of doors and festivities within, were in no instance obstructed or interfered with by white people.

WHY IMPEACH ?- In answer to this question, the New York Post, a Radical journal, says We are glad to see that the House of Representatives does not favor the project of impeaching the President. We should think that he might hail a movement to impeach him as a measure which was more likely to benefit than

This Guano was sold to Glasgow, Scotland, where its value as a manure is appreciated at more than I am offering it on the market. It was only after making a favorable arrangement with the vessel as to freight, and upon the strong endorsement and recommendation of Prof. Shepard, that the owners allowed it to remain. It contains 41 per cent. of Phosphate of Lime, and other valuable ingredients. Mixed with 5 to 10 per cent. of Peruvian Guano makes it one of the cheapest and most valuable manures for Corn or Cotton.
